I have been left with the understanding that the only component of the investigation the RCMP are waiting on is the lab findings, which I further understand to be a firearms and clothing analysis. While there may be more to it, that is what I was left to believe. Evidently, there is a very low priority for this case with the lab, and the associated diary date will continue to be moved forward as long as higher priority investigations are submitted.

Good Morning Joe,
I am not sure what work is being conducted at the lab. I just returned from Holiday and have not been updated by the RCMP.
Thanks

Hey Steve, wondering if you've heard any update from the lab. Still looking at mid august?
Thanks
